If you purchased brand or generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) at any time between April 5, 2009 and June 26, 2014, a class action lawsuit could affect your rights.

*This Notice is being provided by Order of the U.S. District Court.
This is not a solicitation from a lawyer. You are not being sued.*

A class has been certified in a class action lawsuit alleging claims against the manufacturer of brand name Niaspan and one manufacturer of generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin).
If you

- purchased brand name Niaspan directly from Abbott Laboratories or AbbVie Inc. (collectively the “AbbVie Defendants”), at any time during the period April 5, 2009 through June 26, 2014; or
- purchased generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) directly from Teva Pharmaceuticals USA, Inc., Teva Pharmaceuticals Industries, Ltd., Barr Pharmaceuticals Inc., Duramed Pharmaceuticals Inc. and/or Duramed Pharmaceuticals Sales Corp. (collectively the “Teva Defendants”), between April 5, 2009 and June 26, 2014; or
- purchased brand name Niaspan directly from the AbbVie Defendants at any time after April 5, 2009 but ceased operations before September 20, 2013, you may be a member of the class described below, and a class action lawsuit could affect your rights.

This notice describes a class action lawsuit, pending in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, in which the plaintiffs allege that the AbbVie Defendants and the Teva Defendants entered into an agreement to delay generic competition for branded Niaspan (extended-release niacin) in violation of federal antitrust law.

The lawsuit alleges that, as a result of the defendants’ conduct, the prices paid by entities that purchased Niaspan and/or generic Niaspan directly from the defendants were higher than they otherwise would have been. The lawsuit seeks to recover overcharge damages, attorneys’ fees and costs from the defendants. The defendants deny that any of their conduct was unlawful. The Court has not yet heard or resolved the merits of the plaintiffs’ claims or determined whether the plaintiffs’ or the defendants’ contentions are true. No trial has yet been scheduled.

WHY HAS THIS NOTICE BEEN ISSUED?

1 Why did I receive this notice?

This notice explains your legal rights and options regarding the pending class action lawsuit against the AbbVie Defendants and the Teva Defendants.

You received this notice because, according to sales data produced by the manufacturers of brand and generic Niaspan, you may have purchased branded and/or generic Niaspan during the period from April 5, 2009 through June 26, 2014 directly from the AbbVie Defendants and/or from the Teva Defendants.

This notice explains that the Court has allowed, or “certified,” a class action lawsuit that may affect you. You have legal rights and options that you may exercise. Judge Jan E. DuBois of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania is overseeing this class action.

2 What is the lawsuit about?

Rochester Drug Co-Operative, Value Drug, and Professional Drug Company, Inc. (together, the “plaintiffs”) filed lawsuits individually and as representatives of all persons in the United States and its territories who purchased brand name Niaspan or generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) directly from the AbbVie Defendants and/or the Teva Defendants. The cases were consolidated before Judge Jan E. DuBois in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.<sup>1</sup> The lawsuit asserts that, as a result of the defendants’ alleged unlawful conduct, the prices paid for Niaspan and generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) were higher than they otherwise would have been. The plaintiffs seek to recover damages in the form of overcharges they allege were caused by defendants’ conduct. Under federal antitrust law, any damages awarded at trial are automatically trebled (that is, tripled). Plaintiffs also seek to recover attorneys’ fees and costs.

The lawsuit alleges that the defendants violated federal antitrust laws by unlawfully impairing and delaying the introduction of generic versions of the prescription drug Niaspan into the United States market. The plaintiffs allege that in 2005, the maker of brand Niaspan, Kos Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and a generic pharmaceutical company, Barr Pharmaceuticals, Inc., entered into a “pay for delay” agreement in violation of the federal antitrust laws. Absent the alleged “pay for delay” agreement, the plaintiffs claim, Barr (or later Teva) would have launched generic Niaspan earlier than September 2013, the date on which Teva launched generic Niaspan. The plaintiffs also claim that Kos (or later Abbott or AbbVie) would have launched its own competing

<sup>1</sup> The Defendants’ names and corporate relationships have changed over time due to consolidation in the pharmaceutical industry. Kos Pharmaceuticals, Inc. was acquired by Abbott Laboratories in December 2006. Abbott Laboratories later spun off its pharmaceutical business to a new corporation, AbbVie Inc. Barr Pharmaceuticals, Inc. was acquired by Teva in 2008.

generic version of Niaspan, an “authorized generic,” at or about the same time. The plaintiffs allege that the prices for Niaspan and generic Niaspan were higher than they would have been absent the defendants’ alleged unlawful conduct.

The defendants deny all these allegations, including that the plaintiffs or class members are entitled to damages or other relief.

3 Why is this lawsuit a class action?

In a class action lawsuit, one or more persons or entities (called “plaintiffs” or “class representatives”) sue on behalf of others who have similar claims. Together, all these entities make up the “class” and are called the “class” or “class members.” The companies that filed suit are called the plaintiffs (or class representatives). The companies that are sued are called the defendants.

In a class action lawsuit, one court resolves the issues for everyone in the class, except for those class members who exclude themselves from the class.

In allowing this lawsuit to proceed as a class action, Judge DuBois certified the following class of direct purchaser plaintiffs:

All persons or entities in the United States and its territories who purchased brand name Niaspan directly from any defendant, and generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) at any time during the period April 5, 2009 through June 26, 2014; or who purchased generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) directly from any defendant during that time period; or who purchased brand name Niaspan directly from any defendant at any time after April 5, 2009 but ceased operations before generic Niaspan entered in September 2013. Excluded from the class are the defendants, their officers, directors, management, employees, subsidiaries, and affiliates, and all federal government entities.

- The Court decided that this lawsuit can proceed as a class action because it meets the requirements of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23, which governs class actions in federal courts. The common legal and factual questions include:
  - Whether the defendants conspired to suppress generic competition to Niaspan;
  - Whether, pursuant to a reverse payment agreement, Barr (and later Teva) agreed to delay its entry into the market with generic Niaspan; and
  - Whether the alleged reverse payment agreement is illegal under the antitrust rule of reason.

A copy of the Court's order may be found at www.niaspanantitrustlitigation.com.

THE STATUS OF THE CASE

4 What is the current status of the lawsuit?

The Court certified a class of direct purchaser plaintiffs on August 13, 2019 for all purposes, including trial and any future settlements, and appointed the named plaintiffs and their attorneys to represent the class.

The case against the defendants is ongoing. There has been no determination by the Court or a jury that the allegations against the defendants have been proven. A jury trial date has not yet been set by the Court.

5 Has the Court decided who is right?

No. The Court has not decided in favor of the plaintiffs or the defendants with respect to the pending claims. By issuing this notice, the Court is not suggesting that the plaintiffs will win or lose this case. If the claims against the defendants are not resolved by a settlement or otherwise, the plaintiffs must prove their claims at trial.

6 What are the plaintiffs asking for?

The plaintiffs are seeking to recover the overcharges they claim the class paid as a result of the defendants' anticompetitive conduct. If the plaintiffs prevail at trial, they will be entitled to recover triple the amount of damages that the plaintiffs are able to prove. The plaintiffs also seek attorneys' fees and litigation costs.

7 Is there any money available now?

No. The Court has not yet decided whether the defendants did anything wrong, and the plaintiffs have not settled their claims against any of the defendants. There is no guarantee that money or benefits will ever be obtained from the defendants. If they are, class members will be notified regarding how to obtain a share.

WHO IS IN THE CLASS

You need to decide whether you are affected by this lawsuit.

8 Am I part of the class?

The litigation class of direct purchasers includes persons or entities in the United States and its territories who purchased brand name Niaspan directly from the AbbVie Defendants, and generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) at any time during the period April 5, 2009 through June 26, 2014; or who purchased generic Niaspan (extended-release niacin) directly from the Teva Defendants during that time period; or who purchased brand name Niaspan directly from the AbbVie Defendants at any time after April 5, 2009 but ceased operations before generic Niaspan entered in September 2013.

Even if you meet these requirements, you are not a member of the class if you are a defendant or one of the defendants' officers, directors, management, employees, subsidiaries, or affiliates, or if you are a federal government entity.

If you fit within the definition of the class, you will be considered a member of the class unless you timely and fully comply with the instructions for excluding yourself from the class as set forth below.

YOUR RIGHTS AND OPTIONS

9 What are my legal rights and options in this case?

If you fit within the definition of the class, you have to decide whether to stay in the class or ask to be excluded. You have to decide this now.

| SUMMARY OF YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS AND OPTIONS IN THE CLASS |   |
| Remain a Class Member by Doing Nothing                | You do not need to do anything at this time to remain a member of the class. You will be bound by any decision of the Court in this case, and you will give up your rights to sue any of the defendants about the same set of facts, series of transactions, or legal claims involved in this case. By remaining in the class, you make yourself eligible to receive a share of any money that may be recovered by the class. |
| Exclude Yourself                                      | If you exclude yourself from the class, you will not be bound by the decisions of the Court and will not be entitled to receive any money that may be recovered for the class in the future. Any dispute over your request to be excluded will be resolved by the Court.  |
| Hire Your Own Lawyer                                  | You may, but are not required to, hire your own lawyer at your expense to advise you of your rights in the class action lawsuit. You have the right to enter an appearance in the case through your lawyer if you wish.   |

IF YOU DO NOTHING

10 What happens if I do nothing at all?

If you fit within the definition of the class and you do nothing, then you will remain in the class. You will keep the right to a share of any recovery that may come from a trial or settlement with the defendants in this litigation. You will not be able to start your own lawsuit against any of the defendants relating to the legal issues or claims in this case. All of the Court's orders will apply to you and legally bind you. If you wish to remain in the litigation class, you do not need to do anything at this time.

EXCLUDING YOURSELF FROM THE CLASS

11 Why would I ask to be excluded from the class?

If you exclude yourself from the class – also known as “opting-out” of the class – you won't get any money or benefits from this lawsuit even if the plaintiffs obtain them as a result of trial or from any settlement with the defendants. If you exclude yourself, you will not be legally bound by any of the Court's orders as to the claims against the defendants in this class action or any judgment or release entered in this class action.

12 How do I ask the Court to exclude me from the class?

What you must file to exclude yourself from the class depends on whether your right to recover is (i) for qualifying purchases made yourself, or (ii) for purchases that were made by another person (or entity) and you have been assigned all or some of the antitrust rights of that other person (or entity).

If you made qualifying purchases yourself, or if you have been assigned all of the antitrust rights of a person or entity that made qualifying purchases, and wish to be excluded from the class, you must send a letter via first class U.S. mail to the notice administrator listed in Question 19 below stating that you want to exclude yourself from the Lawsuit, In Re Niaspan Antitrust Litigation, MDL No. 2460, Master File No. 13-MD-2460 (E.D. Pa.). This letter should include your name, address, telephone number, and your signature and must be postmarked no later than January 31, 2020. If you have been assigned all of the antitrust rights of a person or entity that would have otherwise been a member of the class, to be excluded, you must also provide a copy of the assignment of claims. Note: If you have previously produced the assignment in this litigation (either as a party who previously filed an action asserting the assigned claim or as a non-party), you may direct the notice administrator to the location of the assignment in the discovery.

If you are a partial assignee (i.e., if the entity that assigned antitrust claims to you retained some portion of its antitrust claims and remains a class member), and wish to be excluded from the class, you must send a letter via first class U.S. mail to the notice administrator listed in Question 19 below stating that you want to exclude yourself from the Lawsuit, In Re Niaspan Antitrust Litigation, MDL No. 2460, Master File No. 13-MD-2460 (E.D. Pa.), and provide (a) a copy of the assignment of claims, and (b) data identifying the purchases you made from your assignor that you contend define the scope of the assigned claims. The required assignment and data must be postmarked no later than January 31, 2020. Note: If you have previously produced the assignment and the data in this litigation (either as a party who previously filed an action asserting the assigned claim or as a non-party), you may direct the notice administrator to the location of the assignment and data in the discovery. Please also be advised that seeking to opt out has a number of legal consequences and you should consult with your own counsel.

Any dispute concerning whether your request to be excluded is valid will be resolved by the Court. You may retain your own counsel and be heard in any such dispute.

You will not be personally charged for the services of these attorneys in litigating this case against the defendants.

14 Should I get my own lawyer?

You do not need to hire your own lawyer if you remain in the class because the lawyers appointed by the Court are working on your behalf. You may hire a lawyer and enter an appearance through your lawyer at your own expense if you so desire.

15 How will the lawyers be paid?

If class counsel achieves a recovery for the class, the Court will be asked to approve reasonable fees and expenses for the lawyers who worked on the case and reimbursement for the litigation expenses they have advanced on behalf of the class. If the Court grants class counsel's requests, fees and expenses would either be deducted from any money obtained for the class or paid separately by the defendants. Members of the class will not have to pay any attorneys' fees or expenses.

THE TRIAL

16 How and when will the Court decide who is right?

If the claims against the defendants are not resolved by a settlement or otherwise, class counsel will have to prove the plaintiffs' claims at a trial by jury. The date for a jury trial has not yet been set by the Court. During the trial, the jury will hear evidence about whether the plaintiffs are right about the claims in the lawsuit. There is no guarantee that the plaintiffs will win, or that the plaintiffs will get any money for the class. Any judgment will be binding on all class members who have not opted out, regardless of who wins.

17 Do I have to come to the trial?

No, you do not need to attend the trial. Class counsel will present the case for the plaintiffs and the class, and counsel for the defendants will present the defenses. You and/or your own lawyer are welcome to attend the trial at your own expense.

18 Will I get money after the trial?

If the plaintiffs obtain money or benefits as a result of the trial or a settlement, you will be notified about how to participate. We do not know if or when this will occur or how long this will take.
